“And they were filled with the Holy Spirit.” At times, Catholics can get caught up in the secondary issues of faith and worship. We want to be entertained in church. We look for toe tapping music, dramatic preaching, and feel-good worship. While music, good preaching, and a warm atmosphere can enhance our worship, they are still secondary issues. What we are primarily about as Catholics is glorifying God and finding our unity in Him. On this Feast of Pentecost, we are reminded that a parish church is spirit-filled and alive only when we open our hearts to the Holy Spirit, who inspires us and draws us into the love of the Holy Trinity. The key to a spirit-filled Mass relies not on the priest, the choir, etc. but rather the spirit of praise and worship of God which every person brings to the Holy Mass.

Eucharistic Miracles: The Miracle of Stich, Germany

Stich Is the smallest of three hamlets that form a parish located in the Bavarian region of Germany, near the Swiss border. In 1970, the parish priest was ill and a visiting priest from Switzerland assumed the duties and prepared to celebrate the Holy Mass in the chapel of Stich at 8:00 PM on the evening of Tuesday, June 9th, 1970.

The Holy Mass progressed in the usual manner until the Consecration, when the priest suddenly noticed on the corporal next to the chalice a small reddish spot that soon grew to the size of a coin. At the elevation of the chalice, the priest noticed another red spot on the corporal at the place where the chalice had rested. Suspecting a leak, he quickly passed his hand under the base of the chalice but found it to be completely free of moisture.

After the completion of the Holy Mass, the priest thoroughly inspected the three cloths that covered the altar: the corporal, a small narrow cloth beneath it that served as a second corporal, and the long altar cloth that covered the entire altar. Since everything was completely clean, no cause could be found for the unexplained appearance of the spots. After the stained cloths were locked in a safe place, the priest went to the rectory to report the incident to the ailing pastor.

On Thursday, June 11th, the stained cloths were more closely examined by the pastor and the Swiss priest, both of whom were unable to find a natural explanation for the stains. After being photographed, the cloths were sent to a chemical laboratory at the Polyclinic Institute of the University of Zurich for analysis.

The cloths were handed over to four different people for analysis, without their being told a single word about what had occurred on the altar. The experts determined that the stains were not wine stains. Rather, they were stains caused by human blood. In addition, the director of the clinical laboratory said that in his judgment, the blood was most certainly that of a man experiencing trauma and agony.

These mysterious blood stains defy any natural explanation; the people of Stich do not need one. They know that they are miraculous, and they feel privileged that the Eucharistic miracle occurred in their humble chapel. As a result, they have experienced a deep reverence and love for the Holy Eucharist.

Sanctify Your Catholic Home

During the month of June, dedicated to the Sacred Heart of Jesus, I would like to offer the spiritual gift of consecrating, or enthroning, your home to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. This great spiritual blessing transforms your home into a Domestic Church, and brings profound graces of peace, protection, and spiritual healing into your daily family life. On your part, place an image of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, whether it be an icon, a statue, or a print in a prominent place in your home. We will gather around this image for the enthronement and the accompanying prayers. I ask you to look ahead to the Sundays in June and see if there is a Sunday that works for you and your family and then please contact me to schedule this pastoral visit to your home. As I may be going to several homes on a given Sunday, I will be able to stay only for the enthronement ceremony before I head onto the next home. But if you twist my arm hard enough, I guess I could stay for a piece of peach kuchen or some other German culinary delight. God bless you and your families as you welcome the Sacred Heart of Jesus to reign in your homes and in your hearts.

Receive Her Soul O Holy Ones

We offer our prayers and condolences to Rick Schaaf and his family upon the death of +Eleonore (Nora) Schaaf, whose Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated last week at Sacred Heart. +Nora was a dedicated teacher throughout much of her lifetime, passionate about imparting knowledge to her students. But as a devoted and loving wife, mother, and grandmother, she did her best teaching reminding the world about the beauty and blessedness of marriage and family life. Eternal rest grant unto her O Lord and let perpetual light shine upon her. May she rest in peace. Amen. May her soul and the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God rest in peace. Amen.

On the Lighter Side

Little Susie concluded her prayer by saying, "Dear God, before I finish, please take care of daddy, take care of mommy, take care of my baby brother, grandma, and grandpa... and please, God take care of yourself---or else we're all sunk."

A Christian Point to Ponder

But God is pleased with you. He sees all the things you have let go of, and all the times you have said no to the world so that you could say yes to Him.
